OVERVIEW

The Pediatric Primary Care Nurse Practitioner (PNP-PC) DNP is a practice-focused doctoral program that prepares nurses to be leaders at the highest level of clinical nursing practice. Graduates function as generalist, principal providers of primary health care to children, birth through emerging adulthood.

Coursework and clinical practice hours focus on developing knowledge and skills necessary for advanced pediatric practice including well child care, management of pediatric and adolescent health problems and care of children, adolescents, and emerging adults with complex, chronic and developmental problems. A culminating DNP Project reflects the practice interest of the student and synthesis and application of scientific knowledge gained through the curriculum.

Graduates are eligible to sit for the national certification exam in Pediatric Primary Care offered by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) or Pediatric Nursing Certification Board (PNCB). After passing the exam, the graduate should consult the licensing board of the state in which they intend to practice for legal (credentialing) and practice information.

OBJECTIVES

Graduates of the PNP-PC DNP are prepared to:

• Assume independent responsibility for promoting, maintaining and restoring health while diagnosing and managing health problems to children, birth through adolescents/emerging adults, for management of well, acutely ill and those with developmental/complex/chronic illness.
• Participate in multi-disciplinary research and provide leadership in mobilizing and advocating for child health services.
• Act as a leader and member of inter-professional teams caring for children and adolescents.
• Act as an advocate to evaluate health care delivery at a systems level to promote child health services.
