Nursing Academic Advisors

All undergraduate advisors are housed in the Student Services Office. In order to have a productive meeting with your advisor, it is best to make an appointment. That way, advisors are prepared to help aid you to make the best decisions for your academic career.

Advisor Name - if you are unaware of your advisor’s name, you have the ability to view the name of your advisor in the Student Center section within PeopleSoft. If the name of your advisor is not in the Student Center, then contact April Bruce at brucea@pitt.edu to add your advisor’s name to your Student Center.

➤ To access your Student Center
  o Log in to My Pitt (my.pitt.edu) with your University Computer Account username and password. Next, click the Student Center pass-through link at the right of the page. Next, click Self Service and then click Student Center. You should see your advisor’s name at the bottom left of the page.

Advising Appointments

  o Advising appointments are held each term to prepare you for the following term. You will be informed, by your advisor, when the scheduling of appointments will begin for the term and how they want you to schedule the appointment. However, there are times when you may need to speak with your advisor with an extenuating circumstance. To make an appointment with your advisor, call the Student Services Office (main number) at (412) 624-4587.

➤ Newly Admitted Students
  o High School - students directly admitted to the School of Nursing (except transfer students) for the fall term will meet the Nursing Advisement Team and enroll in classes during PittStart. To sign up for a nursing PittStart session, go to http://www.pittstart.pitt.edu/index.html
  o Transfer Students - students transferring in to the School of Nursing will meet the Nursing Advisement Team and enroll in classes during the Transfer Student Orientation and Enrollment Sessions. These sessions are held in the summer term for fall term admits and the beginning of January for spring term admits. New students should receive the orientation information from the e-Packet sent from the School of Nursing.
