OVERVIEW

The Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner (PMHNP) DNP is a practice-focused doctoral program that prepares nurses to be leaders at the highest level of clinical nursing practice. Graduates function as principal providers of primary health care who treat individuals with psychiatric disorders across the lifespan in a variety of settings.

Core courses include content on physical diagnosis, health promotion, pharmacology, pathophysiology, and management of acute, episodic, and chronic health problems. Psychiatric primary care content directly builds on these core concepts to provide students with advanced practice skills to effectively manage complex psychobiological problems of people across the lifespan. Clinical practice hours focus on providing comprehensive physical and psychiatric management to clients in various settings. A culminating DNP Project reflects the practice interest of the student and synthesis and application of knowledge gained through the curriculum.

Graduates are eligible to sit for the national certification exam in Psychiatric-Mental Health offered by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC). After passing the exam, the graduate should consult the licensing board of the state in which they intend to practice for legal (credentialing) and practice information.
