OVERVIEW

The Adult-Gerontology Primary Care Nurse Practitioner (AG-PCNP) DNP is a practice-focused doctoral program that prepares nurses to be leaders at the highest level of clinical nursing practice. The AG-PCNP is prepared as a generalist, principal provider of primary health care for adolescents through the adult lifespan. In this clinician leadership role, the AG-PCNP assumes responsibility for promoting, maintaining, and restoring health, including identification of health risks, promotion of wellness, and diagnosis and management of acute and chronic illness. AG-PCNPs also participate in research and provide leadership in mobilizing community resources.

Graduates are eligible to sit for the national certification exam offered by the American Nurses Credentialing Center or American Academy of Nurse Practitioners Certification Board. After passing the exam, graduates should consult the licensing board of the state in which they intend to practice for legal (credentialing) and practice information.
